To Whoever It May Concern,

As a passionate Computer Engineer, I read your posting for a new Computer Engineer Co-op / Intern with much interest. My experience fits with the qualifications you are seeking and I am sure that I would make a valuable addition to your organization.

With 16 months professional experience as a Computer Engineer, I am an enthusiastic worker with many skills and a lot of exposure to programming both in the corporate environment and on a small team. My classroom, professional, and personal experiences have endowed unto me a well-rounded skill set, and, as an Eagle Scout, I have demonstrated my work ethic by appearing on the Dean's list 4/5 semesters thus far.

In addition to my experience and personal qualities, I have a solid and on-going educational foundation from the University of Cincinnati as well as a formidable passion for computers in all facets of the science. I am particularly interested in and enthusiastic about job experiences related to embedded systems, FPGA development, and any professional hardware / software related development.

Most of my experience thus far has been in software, both personal and professional, however I am very interested in hardware and would love to take on any opportunity which would give me any exposure or experience to it. Whether that means working on a team closely knit with hardware developers, or working as a hardware designer I am sure to appreciate any and all professional exposure I can get.

Please review my attached resume for additional details regarding my expertise and achievements. Also feel free to view my e-portfolio at kmfarley11.github.io for more of my background and technical information. The resume attached follows the single-page stigma; however, I have done much and more as may be visible on my website. Please do not hesitate to get in touch with me; I would be more than happy to discuss how my experience and background meet your needs.

Thank you for your time and consideration.

Sincerely,
